There's trouble at Bell Jr. High. Have you heard about it? It all started on April Fools' Day. That's on April 1st each year. Lots of people do pranks on each other on that day, and most of them are harmless and funny, but at Bell Jr. High, things have gotten out of hand!

Twins, Ron and Bob know all about these pranks. Ron works at the school library where most of them have been happening. A student set off a stink bomb which caused the library to close. Ron couldn't work there, and other students couldn't get the books they needed or see the guest speaker who was going to present. Bob works in the school office so he knew that the principal, Mr. Perez, was getting pretty mad about these stink bombs. When Mr. Perez found out that it was the ice cream man selling the kids the stink bombs, he went to talk to him. But can the principal do anything about it? It's not against the law to sell stink bombs, and as the ice cream man said, it is a free country. So what are the students and the staff at Bell Jr. High going to do?
